

Elliott Abrams (center), Senior Fellow for Middle Eastern Studies at the Council on Foreign Relations, spoke on "The 18th Knesset: Obama, Netanyahu, and the Future of the U.S.-Israel Relationship" on May 21, 2009, at the Hillel Center.

Elliott Abrams served as deputy assistant to the president and deputy national security adviser in the administration of President George W. Bush, where he supervised U.S. policy in the Middle East for the White House. He spoke to about 35 students at the OSU Hillel Center.

Elliott Abrams is the author of three books: Undue Process (1993), Security and Sacrifice (1995), and Faith or Fear: How Jews Can Survive in a Christian America (1997); and the editor of three more, Close Calls: Intervention, Terrorism, Missile Defense and "Just War" Today; Honor Among Nations: Intangible Interests and Foreign Policy; and The Influence of Faith: Religion and American Foreign Policy.

Students stand with Elliott Abrams after his talk at the Hillel Center. The Mershon Center sponsored the event along with the student group Buckeyes for Israel.
